The right whale is a cold water fish. It has been found by the examination of "records kept by different ships for hundreds of thousands of the right whale as a sea of fire, through which he cannot pass, and into which he never enters."

It has also been supposed, that since the right whale does not cross the torrid zone, which to him is as a belt of liquid fire through which he cannot pass, that therefore, "the right whale of the northern hemisphere is a different animal from that of the southern."

It is, however, a well established fact, "that

It is, however, a well established fact, "that the same kind of whale which is found off the shows of Greenland, in Baffin's Bay, etc., is also faind in the North Pacific, and about Bhering's Straits; the inference therefore, is, that there must be an opening for the passage of whales from one part of the Arctic Ocean to the other."

The following facts are taken from Many are

The following facts are taken from Maury'sreant work on "The Physical Geography of the Sa," and cannot fail of being interesting to whalemen, and indeed to all classes of readers: "It is the custom among whalers to have their harpoons marked with date and name of the ship; and Dr. Secresby in his work on "Arctic voyave been taken near Bhering's Strait side with harpoons in them bearing the stamps of ships that were known to cruise on the Baffin's Bay side of he American continent; and as, in one or two the date of capture in the Pacific and the date when the fish must have been struck on the Atlantic side, it was argued therefore, that there was a northwest passage by which the whales passed from one side to the other, since the tricken animal could not have had the harpoon in him long enough to admit of a passage around either Cape Horn or the Cape of Good Hope.

"Thus the fact was approximately established that the harpooned whales did not pass around Carlotte and the cape of Good Hope. Cape Horn or the cape of Good Hope, for they were of the class that could not cross the equator. In this way we are furnished with circumstantial proof affording the most irrefragable evidence that the country of the that there is, at times at least, open water com-munication through the Arctic Sea from one side of the continent to the other, for it is known that the whales cannot travel under the ice for such a great distance as is that from one side of the continent to the other. "But this did not prove the existence of an open the there; it only established the existence—the occasional existence, if you blease—of a channel through which whales had passed. Therefore we felt bound to introduce other evident before we could expect the reader to admit our prof and to believe with us in the existence of an open a in the Arctic Ocean.

"There is an under current setting from Atlantic through Davis's Strait into the Arctic Ocean, and there is a surface current setting out. Observations have pointed out the existence of an under current there, for navigators tell us of immense icebergs which they have seen drifting rapidly to the north, and against a strong surface current. These icebergs were high above the water, and their depth below, supposing them to be parallelopipeds, was seven times greater than their height above. No doubt they were drifted by a powerful under current "

reaching this open water, he found the thermometer to show the extreme temperature of 60° .-Passing this ice bound region by traveling north, he stood on the shores of an iceless sea, extending in an unbroken sheet of water as far as the eye could reach toward the pole. Its waves were dashing on the beach with the swell of a boundless ocean. The tides ebbed and flowed in it, and it is apprehended, that the tidal wave from the Atlantic can no more pass under this icy barrier to be propagated in seas beyond, than the vibrations of a musical string can pass with its notes a fret upon which the musician has placed his finger. These tides, therefore, must have been born in that cold sea, having their cradle about the North Pole. If these statements and deductions be correct, then we infer that most, if not all the unexplored regions about the pole are covered with deep water; for, were this unexpected area mostly land or shallow water, it could not give birth to regular tides. and ed, the existence of these tides, with the immense flow and drift which Ship Chandler, Dealer in General Merchandise, and Commission annually takes place from the Polar was into the Merchant, Honolulu, Oahu, S. Do the teeming waters of the Gulf Stream convey it there also, and in channels so far down in the depths of the sea that no enemy may way lay and spoil it on the long journey? These facts therefore lead us to the opinion that the Polar Sea may be an exhaustless Successors to Mr. Henry Robinson, Wholesale Wine and Spirit Merchants, Honolulu, H. BY THE NUMBER OF SEASONS.—One season in the Ochotsk or Arctic, including the outward and homeward passages, consumes one year and a half.

Two seasons at the north, including the passages and two "between seasons," will require three and a half years.

Sperm whalemen who are not governed by these seasons and between seasons as right whalers are, are absent from home three and a half and four years, and sometimes longer. Indeed, the success or ill success of whalemen in obtaining oil, determines essentially the length of voyages.—Vine-

How to Stop Table-Turning.—In the course of its travels, the table-turning reached Munich, the capital of Bavaria. Liebeg had recently been established there as a professor of chemistry, the enlightened government of that kingdom having drawn him thither from Glessen. The experiment of table turning succeeded marvelously at hist. Good and intelligent people were amazed at the phenomenon, and fairly believed, either that spiritual forces were at work in the mahogany, or that new physical power was unfolding itself. They naturally went to the great philosopher to obtain his opinion. He simply said: "Place your hands under the table, and not on it." They did so, and no table, however light, though running on castors over the polished floor under the smallest impulsion, would budge a hair's breadth. The good people of Munich, again astonished at the facility with which they had deceived themselves, thanked Liebeg for opening their eyes; for it is not a custom there to consult men of science on obscure subjects, and then abuse them if their Dealer in Dry and Fancy Goods, Hotel street between Nun and Manuaken streets, Honolulu, S. I. 11 Grocers and Provision Merchants and Coffee Ross street, near the Bethel. on obscure subjects, and then abuse them if their opinions do not happen to coincide with the popular madness of the hour—the table turning has never troubled Munich since. The explanation, of course, was that, when their hands was under the table, they ould not push it without a conscious effort, inasmue as the force of gravitation was against them. And, as they were honest people, they would not push, and, as the table was an honest table, it would not go.

Hoop SKIRTS AND UMBRELLAS.-Whalebone has Hoop Skirs and Umbrellas.—Whalebone has nearly doubled in price within the past four months, in consequence of the enormous consumption of the article in skirt-hoops. Where the wholesale price was forty or fifty, it is now eighty or ninety cents a pound. The Commercial List of to-day reports a sale of eight thousand pounds at ninety-five. An umbrella dealer informs us that at retail he has been obliged to pay a dollar and a half a pound for the manufactured article, and the five dollar umbrellas of two months ago are now sold for six. Nor is this all. The braces have become greatly attenuated, being hardly more than half the size they were in the old-fashioned umbrellas. So that the prospect is, we shall be compelled to rely wholly on steel braces, which have experienced no such "appreciation." CONTRACTOR AND BUILDER. To the Owners, and Persons interested in Whaleships in the Pacific Ocean.

OFFICE OF THE PANIMA RAIL-ROAD COMPANY, NEW YORK, July 20, 1857.

The Panama Rail-Road Company takes this method of informing those intererted in the Whaling business, of the advantages offered by the Railroad across the Isthmus of Panama, for the shipment of this and supplies from the United States to Panama.

The Railroad has been in regular and successful operation for more than two years, and its capacity for the transportation of every description of incrchandise, including Oil, Provisions, &c., has been fully tested. The attention of several Captains of whaleships has recently been turned to the subject of shipping their oil from Panama to New York during the present season, and the Panama Rail-Road Company has made arrangements to afford every facility which may be required for the accomplishment of this important object. A Pier, 450 feet long, as been built in the bay of Panama, to the end of which Frequency and the receive cargoes from lighters or vessels lying alongside, and deliver the same alongside of vessels at Aspinwall. Vessels of from 200 to 300 tons can lie at the Pier with safety, grounding in the mud at low water.

The vessels to and from Aspinwall are fast-sailing brigs, belonging to the Rail-Road Company, and the Company is prepared to receive oil at Panama and deliver it in New York, under thorough Bills of Lading, at the rate of eight cents per gallon, if received at the Pier, and nine cents per gal-longing to the Rail-Road Company, and the Company is prepared to receive oil at Panama and deliver it in New York, under theorough Bills of Lading, at the rate of eight cents per gallon, if received at the Pier, and nine cents per gallon if received in the harbor from ship's tackies, charging for the capacity of the casks, without allowing for wantage. This charge covers every expense from Panama to New York, in case the oil is sent through the Superintendent or Commercial Agent of the Panama Rail-Road Company, insurance excepted. The freights may be made payable on the Isthmus or in New York at the option of the shipper.

The vessels of the Company sail regularly semi-monthly, and the average passages to and from Asphwall are about twenty to twenty-five days. The time occupied in crossing the Ishmus is four hours. Oil, during its transit across the Isthmus, will be covered with canvas, or conveyed in covered cars, and owners may be assured that every care will be taken to prevent leakage. Several cargoes have already been conveyed to New York without the slightest less.

Oil or other goods consigned for transportation to the Superintendent of the Panama Rail-Road Company, or to Williams Nelson, Commercial Agent of the Company at Panama, will be received and forwarded with the greatest despatch.

The Frederic L. Hanks has been appointed Agent at Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, and is prepared to furnish every requisite information to shippers.

PUBLIC HOUSE.

PUBLIC HOUSE.

FROM THE 1ST OF DECEMBER,
1856, to January 20th, 1857, I paid to this Government $1250. On Friday, June 27, a Kanaka came to my house for 62½ cents worth of beer, stelling it was for C. Vincent, bringing Vincent's cart to carry away the beer. The Kanaka took the beer. The same day I received a warrant of arrest for selling this 62½ cents worth of beer. For five days I have been at court, every day it having been postponed for want of evidence. To-day I was fined $150. But listen to the evidence: They take Kanaka policeman No. 1, rive him three, glasses of this said beer; he says it was bitter and made him giddy. The next is Mr. Jourdan, (police). He says it made the Kanaka's eyes crack and start. The mext is Mr. Brickwood, (police) and of course he says the same, with the addition that the Kanaka's eyes started out of his head and he looked like a man that had caten poisoned fish. Consider this evidence, how it was got, and the men that gave it. When I paid to this Government my good money, I expected to have the same tol eration as other men who had paid $1000 a year. I offered to make the beer before them, how them how it was made, and thear all expenses. But there is a prejudice against beer, and my $150 will pay them better than looking at me make beer.
That prejudice was got up by men holding spirit licenses, in the first place to do away with beer seliens, I have no idea. Perhaps it was singled out of eight beer-seliers, I have no idea. Perhaps it was that I attended well to my business and was the most likely to have the $150. Any other reason I cannot give.

I now inform the public that I am the only man on these Islands that can make beer fit to drink. Never mind what the publicans tell you about being aware of 2 sel's beer. They are afraid of it; they dread its effect. Not the effect it has on the parity that drinks it, but the effect it has had on their tills. If my beer was bad, people would not drink it. If I used pernicious drugs, H. B. M. ship Hansassak would never have gone
